AMIRC Association Mtsodneli – Innovation Research Center official representative in Georgia of IMUNA Welcomes Delegates from Georgia to NHSMUN 2017!

On behalf of the International Model United Nations Association, we would like to invite students to the forty-third annual edition of NHSMUN, which will consist of sessions in New York City from March 8-15.

Known for its prestigious attendees and high-quality debate, NHSMUN is proud to be the largest Model United Nations conference in the world, with over 5,000 attendees from more than 50 different countries. For nearly half a century, NHSMUN has simulated international diplomacy as our staff guides students in their pursuit of solutions to some of the most controversial crises that threaten the political and economic stability of today's globalized society. The National High School Model United Nations (NHSMUN) is the world's largest Model UN conference, with hundreds of schools and thousands of delegates attending from around the world. NHSMUN is known for its diverse, prestigious attendees, its world-class staff, and its engaging committee simulations of proven substantive quality.

NHSMUN provides students with opportunities to interact with high-profile, relevant United Nations figures, including an in-person visit with diplomatic representatives of the countries the students are representing. Academically rigorous material, thought-provoking debate, and a staff of carefully-selected MUN experts whether you are a beginner or veteran, if you are looking for an engaging, immersive experience in the world of international affairs, problem solving, and diplomacy, NHSMUN is the conference for you.

Our staff is dedicated to offering the most rewarding and enriching experience possible to all attendees, spending thousands of hours throughout the year enthusiastically preparing and training for the conference. To ensure this goal is met, our international, all-volunteer staff is composed of the world's most talented college students who were each carefully selected after a highly competitive application and interview process. Based on their undeniable work ethic, impressive skill sets, and areas of international relations expertise, we promise you that our staff members will provide an unsurpassed substantive experience that cannot be found elsewhere.

NHSMUN prides itself on the additional event opportunities we offer students and guests that enrich attendees' experiences beyond committee simulations. One of the programs that sets us apart is our Mission Briefing Program. Often regarded as some of the most fulfilling aspects of the conference, mission briefings grant students the privilege to meet and interact with the diplomats of the very country that they are representing during their respective committee sessions. Additionally, we offer a series of panels with notable speakers, preparatory workshops and committee trainings, hands-on seminars in resolution writing, faculty simulations, topic expert panels, exclusive access to the United Nations General Assembly Hall, and so much more that undeniably makes the NHSMUN experience truly one of a kind.
